OGDEN SOCIETY.

(Special Correspondence.)
Ogden, Sept. 2.—A thoroughly enjoyable social event of the week was the able social event of the week was the banquet and entertainment given Friday evening by the Young Ladles' Mutual Improvement association of the Fifth ward in commemoration of the Fifth ward in commemoration of the anniversary of the society. The ward institute was prettily decorated, and three long tables set with a tempting and abundant supply of good things were placed in the amusement hall. Cut flowers were freely used in the decorations, and a few sprays of sweet peas were placed beside each plate. Nearly 400 members of the ward and their guests sat down to the spread and did justice to the menu. Miss Canfeld, president of the ward association, introduced Hon. H. H. Rolapp as toastmaster, and the judge made a happy reply, touching on what he knew and did not know of the numerous varieties of toast.

Miss Ruthinda Moemch replied to the toast "Mutual Improvement Associations" in a brief eulogy of the work done by that society. "Our Bishop' was the toast responded to by President C. F. Middleton, who recounted the work of Bishop Stevens as a citizen and as a churchman from the time of the advent of the bishop in Ogden to the present time. The recital was exceedingly complimentary to Bishop Stevens, and the address of President Middleton was most heartily applianded. Miss Zannie Canmon responded to the request of Judge Rolapp for a toast on "Bachelors," and Joshua Rackham toasted "Maids." Each of these speakers responded in a happy vein, creating much mirth by their witty sallies. James Douglass gave an eloquent eulogy to "The Pioneers," and the concluding toast, "Utah's Best Crop," was fittingly given by Miss L.M. Irvine. Two vocal musical numbers were given during the evening, one each by Mrs. Ethel Pike Holbrook and Miss Beatrice Farley. Messrs Ford and Thatcher rendered orchestral selections during the course of the banquet. The young ladies are highly pleased over the success of their efforts.
